GREENBELT, MARYLAND

Requirements To Vote, Run In City Election on Sept. 21

Election day for the Greenbelt City Council is just three months away, on September 21, to be exact. All citizens should be aware of the requirements to make them eligible to vote or run for office. Do you know, for example, whether you are qualified to vote, or how to nominate the candidate of your choice, or when and where to register?

Here are the regulations for citizen participation in Greenbelt City elections.

Anyone who is eligible to vote in Greenbelt City elections is eligible to run for one of the five seats on the city council. ELECTION DAY is September 21, 1971; the term of office is 2 years. Councilmen get a salary of $1,500 a year; the Mayor $1,800.

Registration

REGISTRATION DAY for voters is ANY DAY, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. — just go to the city offices and sign up with the city clerk. If you work during the day and can't register then, wait until special registration days, which are announced later in the summer. The last day to register is August 23.

Once you have registered for Greenbelt elections, you need not register again as long as you live here continuously, provided you have voted in at least one of the two previous city elections. If you've never registered here or if you moved out of town and then moved back or if you missed voting in two elections, it will be necessary to register again under the same provisions.

Eligibility

To be eligible to vote in Greenbelt council elections you must be a citizen of the United States, at least 18 years of age, must have lived in Greenbelt at least six months immediately preceding the election. Employees of the U. S. government residing in Greenbelt, are eligible to vote in the city election and run for city council posts.

If you — or your candidate — are eligible to vote, here's what must be done to get a place on the ballot for City Councilman:

1-Get at least 50 and not more than 60 of the qualified registered voters to sign a nomination petition form or get some from the city clerk; she also has an information form that will be helpful. You may use one sheet of paper or several. There were roughly 3,000 registered voters as of the last election.

2-Submit the signed petition to her (together with a $3 filing fee) no earlier than July 23 and not later than August 23 at 5 p.m. Only registered voters' signatures are valid, and a voter may sign only ONE nomination petition even though he may vote for five candidates. Therefore, the city clerk will disqualify a voters' signature on the second and all subsequent petitions she receives on which it appears.

This means a voter should think twice before signing a nomination petition for someone he isn't really eager to back; it would make him unable to nominate anyone else. This also means that the candidate (or the backers of a candidate) who file their petitions early in the July 23 - August 23 period will have more time in which to get additional signatures to validate the petition.

Married women signers of petitions should use the form Mary Doe, not Mrs. John Doe. The records show them as Mary Doe and if the city clerk doesn't recognize the name in its married form, she may not be able to check and accept it.

3-Within 7 days of filing of a valid petition, the city clerk notifies the candidate. The latter then has 7 days within which to accept the nomination. (In some cases petitions are circulated without the candidates say-so). The ballot carries only persons nominated this way. But you can write in names when you vote.

That's all there is to it. On September 21 there will be an election. If five candidates fail to win at least 40 percent of the votes cast, there will be a run-off election 7 days later. In the run-off election the ballot will consist of those unsuccessful candidates receiving the highest number of votes, up to twice as many names as there are positions to be filled.

Mayor Edgar L. Smith Named to Judgeship

Mayor Edgar L. Smith has been appointed a judge of the new state court system, which on July 5 replaces the existing hodgepodge of County Magistrate and People's Court. Another Greenbelter, Howard S. Chasanow, who is now serving as a People's Court substitute judge, was also named. The new judges will be known as District Court judges and will serve for 10-year terms, subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Governor Marvin Mandel is expected to convene a special session of the Senate for the purpose of securing approval of the 38 appointments he made around the State.

The District Court system will be a unified, statewide, lower-court system under a single chief judge, handling minor civil cases, criminal misdemeanors, traffic cases, and preliminary matters in felony cases. Judges will be paid $25,952 a year. According to the new code, judges are expected to refrain from engaging in partisan politics and in private practice.

Rise in Water Sewer Rates

Beginning July 1, water and sewer rates for Greenbelters will increase 13 cents per 1,000 gallons used. The water consumption charge on metered customers will go from the present 30 cents to 38½ cents per 1,000 gallons. The sewage usage charge increases from the present 23½ cents to 28 cents per 1,000 gallons. The rate increases were announced by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission when it approved its fiscal 1971-72 budget last week.

REPORT ON INDOOR POOL AVAILABLE AT TWIN PINES

The Friends of the Greenbelt Indoor Pool have made available for all interested persons copies of the Report on an Indoor Pool and Health Spa, written by the Aquatic Boosters Club. These copies are available at the Office of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association, together with a list of names and addresses of everybody who wants to help to bring the Indoor Pool and Health Spa to a September Referendum.

City Leaders Decry Abuse of Trash Site

A query raised at the June 14 city council meeting by councilman Richard Pilski revealed that the special trash collection facilities located behind the firehouse have been frequently abused by local citizens. Intended only for special trash — furniture items or yard trash — the pick-up center has sometimes been used for dumping or garbage — in one case, the carcass of a deer.

City manager James K. Giese agreed with Pilski that further abuse of the facility would necessarily lead to discontinuance of the service, since foul odors and visual unsightliness had both been complained of by local citizens.

That the service is intended for Greenbelt citizens only was also stressed by Giese. Following Pilski's inquiry, the city has adopted a policy of regularly stationing an attendant to check that the facility is not being abused and to require proof of residence from all those making use of it.

July/August Paper Pick-up

The Greenbelt Jaycees are planning to take part in the August newspaper and magazine recycling drive. Scheduled for Saturday, August 7, they will split all proceeds with the City. Any other groups interested in this project for other months can contact the city Offices at 474-8000.

For the July drive, set for Thursday, July 1, all plans are set. The City will run this drive and pick up papers in all parts of the City, just as has been done in previous months.

Bowie State Deadline

The projected enrollment for the Undergraduate Division for the 1971-72 school year at Bowie State College has been exceeded, and the rapid growth in enrollment at the college over the past two years has created a limitation of space in all areas. In order to provide quality education and efficient services to all students, the college has set July 1 as the deadline for accepting applications for the 1971 Fall semester.

Applications are also being accepted for the 1972 school year.

LOW BOILING POINT

Environment Problems Cut Raw Nerves at Council Mtg

by Virginia Beauchamp

Citizen concern for the environment, a persistent and recurring topic in Greenbelt, surfaced early in the last regular city council meeting, held Monday, June 14, and, as in past discussions, heated up quickly into charges and counter-charges. Various citizens, including Dr. Thomas F. Albert of Springhill Lake, who introduced a letter to council calling for direct city action in recycling programs for waste disposal, criticized council for inaction or for moving too slowly in undertaking programs for environmental control.

The subject of council's responsibilities in this area became particularly heated during debate over a proposed city ordinance which would prohibit the disposal or entrance of water pollutants into the storm drainage system within the city. According to the wording of the ordinance, persons found in violation could be fined as much as $100 for a first offence and $1000 or imprisonment for as much as 90 days for each subsequent offence.

In discussing the ordinance, council became worried over the definition of "water pollutants." As expressed in the draft ordinance, these would be: "Any chemical, organic compound or substance which is poisonous, injurious or otherwise harmful to plant, fish, bird or animal life, including, but not limited to, oil, kerosene, gasoline, grease and other petroleum products, anti-freeze, paints, turpentine, and paint thinners."

This wording seemed sufficiently broad, councilman Richard Pilski noted, that a man using detergents to wash his car or his porch could be subject to a $100 fine. Councilman Joel Katz, who had introduced the ordinance for second reading, agreed that such a penalty would be far too "stringent" for such an act. In order to allow time for further study of the wording, Katz later made a motion to table the question until the following meeting.

This action to defer action brought sharp comments from some members of the audience, who noted that the ordinance had been passed for first reading in October 1970. If council had already had eight months to study the ordinance and had still done nothing, they charged, the lake might be irreversibly damaged before the necessary legal controls were passed.

But councilman Katz defended his action. Calling pressure on council to make an immediate decision "unfair," he stressed that the wording of the ordinance so as to permit car washing and the problem of how to enforce the ordinance were complex questions needing further study. He promised action however, at the next scheduled meeting, and the motion to table was passed.

Recycling Discussed

Albert, who amplified the views expressed in his letter advocating council action in initiating a recycling program, criticized council for lagging behind such cities as Bowie. Evidently unaware that the newspaper recycling program introduced in May was initiated and carried out by the city, Albert urged that paper, glass, and metals be collected under city auspices. City manager James K. Giese noted that besides the paper collection, already in progress, the city also collected large appliances, which were sold for scrap, and had been investigating possibilities for collecting bottles for reprocessing. In Bowie, he noted, volunteer citizen groups have managed the recycling. No such groups in Greenbelt, he said, had expressed an interest in taking on like responsibilities.

In closing discussion on the subject, Mayor Edgar L. Smith directed Giese to investigate the possibility of separating out different kinds of trash for recycling.

Two reports by the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board presented to council at the meeting, also dealt with controlling damage to the environment. One recommended prohibition of liquid fuel motors of all kinds from the lake. This recommendation, in response to citizen complaints, was particularly directed against model boats. The second report recommended that the city pass an ordinance permitting the city to clean trash off neglected vacant properties and make the cost of clean-up chargeable to the owner.

Other Actions

Council also passed an ordinance providing for the disposition of unclaimed articles of personal property (mostly bicycles) in possession of the city and an ordinance authorizing the city to issue a tax anticipation note of $160,000 for temporary financing for construction of the box culvert on Cherrywood Lane in Springhill Lake.

A supplemental grant of $450 was made to the Boys and Girls Club to defray expenses incurred in their softball and cheerleading programs, which drew much larger participation than had previously been anticipated. By motion of council the city manager's salary was increased to $20,000 per year, as previously authorized in the 1971 budget.

Seven members of PRAB were reappointed: Leonard Grossman, Hugh Jascourt, Virginia Moryadas, Nancy Neupert, Larry Noel, Joseph O'Loughlin, and James Shaughnessy.

Council also endorsed the policy of the Council of Governments relating to pursuit by the police of persons trying to escape across jurisdictional lines, a proposal by the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority to move up two years the time schedule for construction of the Greenbelt Rd. metro line, and an action taken by the Maryland Municipal League to oppose rate increases by the C & P Telephone Co.

Council also agreed to support a petition by Holy Cross Lutheran Church for a special exception to conduct a nursery school in the church building.

City Notes

In line with a new agreement with the city of College Park for joint use of the Beltsville landfill site that belongs to College Park, Greenbelt's bulldozer has been moved to the site and is already in operation. It will be used there by a College Park crew, and maintained by College Park, until that city's equipment, now on order, has been delivered. At that time the bulldozer will be returned.

Greenbelt's trash will continue to be dumped at this city's own landfill site off Northway extended until the end of June.

The regular Public Works crew has completed the retaining wall across the drainage ditch at the end of Fayette Place and has set up a fence around it as a protection to children in the area. The crew expects to dress up the stream bed in the ditch itself.

Other odd jobs completed by crewmen were repair to walkway lights, moving of furniture at the Youth Center, and taking down the reviewing stand at the war memorial on Centerway.

The Parks crew planted Bar Harbor junipers, a low-growing evergreen, in the center island bed of Southway just north of Ridge Rd. Rudebeckia, a kind of daisy, was planted down the center of the bed, and petunias were planted at the end nearest Ridge.

The three new police officers recently hired by the city have completed their formal training with the Department. Their next assignment will be to participate in patrols for field training in the company of senior officers.

Sales of swimming pool passes appear to be going well this year, according to City Manager James K. Giese. As of June 10, 423 resident family passes had been sold, he reported—a figure well along toward the 565 passes sold by the end of the season last year. Sales of passes for single residents already equaled the 80 season passes sold last year.

Seven senior citizens have bought passes this year already, as against a total of eight sold last year. Non-resident families have bought 65 passes, as compared with a total of 106 for the entire 1970 season. Five non-resident single passes have been sold, as compared with a total of eight last year.

Following a presentation of a petition by a group of Boxwood residents, the Public Works Dept. has taken immediate action to correct a drainage problem on a city right-of-way leading from Lynbrook Ct. Because of the grading design of adjacent yards and the pathway area, water from nearby springs tends to stand in a low spot on the path itself. In correcting the drainage problem, the city crew is also paving the path, which leads to vacant parkland between Boxwood and Lakewood subdivisions. Mostly a fairly steep slope, the land is used as a sledding hill by children in the winter months.

The city crew has also made temporary repairs to the worse sections of sidewalk in the Center mall. These have resurfaced with asphalt and then coated with cement to make them similar in appearance to the adjacent concrete walkways.

The contractor for the street widening of Laurel Hill Rd. returned following the winter's pause to finish the curb work. Final resurfacing of the roadway will be performed in the near future. At the same time the pathway through Braden Field will be paved, as will the parking lot at the firehouse. In anticipation of this last job, the city crew patched broken places in the parking lot. They also fixed and repainted the back panels on the Lake Park bandstand.

The city's special trash collection detail hauled away five loads of washing machines and other large appliances to a recycling plant on Kenilworth Ave.

"Bicycles Don't Pollute"

The above message printed on round lapel buttons (with the word DONT printed in large letters depicting a bicycle wheel) are being circulated and worn by many people all around the country, perhaps primarily to sell bicycles, but also to stimulate public concern over pollution problems now facing us, caused to a great extent by the ever increasing number of automobiles and Diesel fueled engines.

The news media have joined with environmental and anti-pollution organizations in daily reminding the public of the serious health hazards of the pollution problems, yet we are doing little to eliminate the number of automobiles in our residential areas.

I believe the citizens of Greenbelt could contribute in a novel way to the anti-pollution programs, and possibly be an inspiration to other communities, by more of us riding bicycles, for BICYCLES DON'T POLLUTE. However, to do this we must provide suitable Bike and Hike lanes capable of serving children as well as adults. The planned community of Greenbelt lends itself admirably to just such a program.

My recommendation for this trail would start with elimination of parking on one side of the several residential arterial roadways, beginning at Crescent and Ridge Roads, proceeding out Ridge Road past Southway to the North End, with a branch out Southway to 8 Court, through University Square Apartments to Charlestowne Village. The Ridge Road Lane could terminate at Northway Road, going over Northway to Hillside and thence to Crescent Road, or continue around North End to serve North End School over the Research Farm Road and then back to Hillside Road to Crescent Road, with a lane continuing back past the shopping center, City Office, Swimming Pool, Youth Center, Golden Age Lounge, Library, Center School and back to the point of beginning, with a branch of the Crescent Road Lane at Hillside going out Crescent past St. Hugh's School with a lane serving Braden Field and Youth Center; Crescent Road Lane proceeding to Greenbelt Lake Park, serving Woodland Hills, Lakewood, Boxwood and Lakeside North. This lane could be extended to serve Springhill Lake and Junior High School and perhaps Beltway Plaza.

The parking space taken for this bike lane should be smooth paved for enjoyable bike-riding, jogging, walking or even pushing the baby buggy, and separated from the travelled roadway by a low fence railing to prevent the bikes from going into the roadway, as well as preventing automobiles from running up on the bike trails.

I am quite aware of the great resistance that will come from the many residents who are now using the road shoulder for parking their own private cars, or rather garaging their own private property in the public right-of-way and expecting other taxpayers to provide and maintain this space for storing their private property.

The start of a complete off-street parking program is long past due, and every effort should be made to use our streets for public travel and not garaging of private automobiles.

I have saved one of my reasons for wanting this Bike and Hike land until last, because I am active in the Golden Age Club and I am trying to introduce a Tri-hike, or three-wheel bicycle program for the members of that Club. This program has become very popular in Florida and other areas of the country, and a space to ride these three-wheelers is needed.

Riding Club Meeting

The Greenbelt Riding Club will hold its regular monthly meeting in the multi-purpose room of the Recreation Department at 8 p.m. July 6. A film will be shown after the meeting.

Empty Pool

Why does Greenbelt consider building a new swimming pool when we don't use the pool we have? The present pool sits empty 42% of the time in the summer.

Every hour on the hour there is a 15 minute "adult swim and rest period." In order to be sure the pool is really empty by the hour the guards announce "adult swim" at 5 minutes before the hour, thus making the rest period 20 minutes long. Many of the guards also announce that "unless the pool is empty within 10 seconds I will extend the rest period 10 more minutes". So because hundreds of children can't climb up four ladders in 10 seconds, the rest period most frequently is extended to 25 minutes as punishment.

After the pool is cleared, there are usually 0 to 8 adults left swimming in this $100,000 pool. The life guards can see they are not needed so they climb down and start conversations with their friends in the locker room. It's pretty hard for them to go back to work, so the "everyone back in pool" signal is rarely given till 20 minutes after the hour. This means, even when no punishment is given, that if you add the 5 minutes to clear the pool and the 5 minutes to return to duty, all rest periods turn out to be 25 minutes long. Which is rough on the kids who have other things to do and came for a swim. They sit in droves on the edges and watch one or two adults enjoying an empty pool. Last night at the 6 p.m. rest period there were no adults in the water. Except for 30 pairs of dangling feet, the pool was empty for 22 minutes, the thermometer 88°. I have never seen any adults in the $50,000 diving pool during "adult swim."

In other pools around the country, where it has been decided that children need enforced rests, the boys are required to sit out for 10 minutes, then the girls for 10 minutes, so that the pool was in constant use, but at reduced congestion. Adult swim periods of a half hour were scheduled at reasonable intervals where the children didn't have to sit on the shore and watch them. Other pools rope off certain areas of the pool for "adults only" at specified hours. Other pools have more family swims too. Instead of "adults only" during the 15 minutes it could be "families." Or the age of "adults" could be lowered to 14 years old and green tags issued to those eligible. Unless one third of the people who want to swim are allowed to swim, some changes would be welcome.

The announced time of opening is 1 p.m., I have never seen the pool open at 1:00. Often it is 1:30. After waiting in line half an hour the kids get their baskets, etc., just in time to reach the pool for the 25 minute rest period at 1:55. It seems that on days when the pool opens over 20 minutes late that the 2:00 rest period could be suspended. By the time you add in closing the pool for a whole hour because a guard thought he saw lightning you can see that the children of Greenbelt have much less opportunity to swim than the people who paid so much to build a pool for them probably intended. Swimming is supposed to be good exercise.

Invitations and programs were printed by the students in the industrial arts dept.

Nostalgia for Bygone Days

We were sitting in our yard, enjoying the beauty of a spring Sunday, when one of our out-of-town guests, a former Greenbelter visiting with his bride, spoke.

"Remember when it was against the law in Greenbelt to hang wash on the line on Sunday?"

All eyes turned in the direction he was looking to see a neighbor, in total disregard, hanging out the weekly wash. Immediately the beauty that can be Greenbelt on a spring Sunday afternoon, was spoiled. For the sake of his new wife who was seeing Greenbelt for the first time, he added,

"And it was a good law too."

Why not respect the aesthetic sensibilities of our neighbors? Why insult their vision on Sunday when one does not normally hang out the wash? Rather let him enjoy the landscape on which much money and hard work have been spent. We, who wish to be proud of Greenbelt, do not appreciate anyone or anything that makes it look like Shantytown, instead of the Greenbelt it was meant to be. Oh, for the early days in Greenbelt when this affront would be unlawful.

Magazine Display Offends

For some time now, local stores have had Playboy Magazine displayed next to their cash registers. I have never complained before about this practice, but this time I feel I should speak out.

Inasmuch as children are constantly in these stores and have to pay for their purchases at these cash registers, I object vehemently to the fact that this magazine is in such a conspicuous place. I realize that in today's world, more than ever, children will be exposed to a lot of trash (art for intellectuals) in their lives, but the local stores shouldn't be the place where it starts.

Alice K. Hess

cise. What is sitting on the side supposed to do for them?

The 15 minute adult swim has attracted so few adults that I rarely see any of you at the pool. The children can only groan and say it's all unfair. Antagonism against "rules" is being built up in the children when they have to sit on the edge nearly half of every hour and gaze at an empty pool. Will some adult who cares about these kids please phone Mayor Smith and protest?

PTA Puts on Luncheon For Retiring Teacher

More than 150 students and their parents, former students, teachers and staff gathered at a luncheon June 11 to honor Clare Jacobs, the first teacher to retire from Greenbelt Junior High School. Mrs. Jacobs taught in the county for 26 years, 20 of which were at GJHS.

Following the lunch, prepared by PTA parents and served by parents and students, Mrs. Jacobs was presented with gifts, including a gold bracelet, an engraved bell, a proclamation from the city, favorite songs and a little red school house.

Invitations and programs were printed by the students in the industrial arts dept.

Keep the Record Straight

To try to keep the record straight, because someday someone might think Al Skolnik's peculiar report on the Greenbelt Homes annual membership meeting was correct and so would be misled as to my position, I take issue with a peculiarly constructed sentence therein.

I quote the sentence: "Candidate Jim Smith, supported by Mat Amberg, complained of receiving discourteous treatment from the board, but the discussion was cut short when former GHI president Burgoon recounted the practice of not using the general membership meeting to air personal problems."

Read normally, that sentence conveys the meaning that Smith complained that someone, presumably Smith, received discourteous treatment from the board and that after his complaint, I spoke up to corroborate his statement. It also can be misread, particularly if read hastily, to mean that I supported Smith's candidacy. Neither is so.

I spoke first on the subject. I had spoken on it before, at a meeting at the end of April. I am still outraged that the board would have a subject on its agenda for a board meeting, refuse to hear a member out on that subject even though it is dealing with regulations of the members' rights, and have the gall to lecture members on some presumed obligation to obey all their regulations no matter how unreasonable or even contradictory they may be. I spoke on the subject after the GHI president touched on regulations in his report and after Audit Chairman Janet James made her report. After I said my piece, Smith spoke up. He may have been supporting my point, or using it to introduce his own. Anyway, I wasn't supporting his complaint. And I didn't support him as a candidate, nor did I vote for him.

As to former President Ed Burgoon and his point, it is true that Ed's comment drew some partisan applause. I don't think members will want to follow too far the policy line he was suggesting under the guise of a "tradition." If members can't discuss at a general membership meeting the behavior of the board of directors or individual board members in their official capacities, where can they raise such questions? Where are we entitled to discuss, complain about, praise, ask for changes in, the behavior of our elected leaders when they deal with our rights and problems? Is it a personal problem or an organizational problem when a member alleges that at a board meeting where a certain topic was on the agenda, he could not discuss what he thought was a mistaken policy? Anyhow, when Ed was on the board, and when he was president, membership meetings did discuss "personal problems" of various sorts; his so-called "practice" was not a consistently followed one. And it isn't in line with the spirit of the bylaws.

The Police Blotter

Chief William Lane credits the investigative work of Det. Sgt. John Krob for the closing of approximately 19 breaking and entering cases which occurred during February, March and April in Greenbelt, other Prince Georges municipalities, as well as in Montgomery and Howard counties. Four persons, two adults and two juveniles, were arrested and charged with breaking and entering and larceny; three are Greenbelt residents and one is a resident of College Park. In several instances the police were able to recover some of the stolen property.

Four of the breaking and entering cases have been solved. Most involved - "breaking" through unlocked doors. In two cases, three juveniles were arrested. Chief Lane advises people not to leave their homes unlocked.

In another breaking and entering case, one that occurred at the Capital Library Service in the Center, two juveniles were arrested for taking a typewriter (later recovered).

The three new officers who recently joined the force, Justin, Smith, and Craze are now on patrol with senior officers.

Officer Brumley suffered a broken wrist while investigating a complaint of a car parked in the fire lane on Westway. The owner of the car reportedly refused to show his driver's permit and pushed the officer into the squad car, causing Brumley to break his wrist. The man, a Baltimore resident, was charged with assaulting an officer, resisting arrest, failure to produce a driver's license, and parking in a fire lane. Officer Brumley has been placed on light duty for four to six weeks.

Officer Miskell will be out on sick leave for several months following an off-duty accident which left him with 1st, 2nd, and 3rd degree burns on his legs.

Three breaking and enterings occurred at Springhill Lake recently, all involving entry through the first floor patio door. Chief Lane advises all residents having patio doors to place bolts or blocks of wood in the track of the door.

Metro Contract Let For Two P.G. Stations

Transit authority directors have approved award of the first design contract involving stations in Prince Georges County.

The contract — for $876,118 — went to Whitman, Requardt and Associates of Baltimore for design of the Cheverly and Landover Stations on Metro's Ardmore Route. Both stations will be at grade level.

Included in the contract is design of about three miles of connecting section running from the district line to a point approximately three-quarters of a mile north of the intersection of Landover Road and John Hanson Highway (Route 50).

County Budget Holds Line on Property Tax

The Prince Georges County Council adopted a budget for 1971-72 last week that includes no increase in the property tax. The tax rate will remain at $3.77 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The increase in dollar expenditures was kept to some 9 percent, mainly by cutting the school budget. The school administration had requested $160.3 million, but this had been cut to $155.3 million by the school board and then to $151.4 million by county executive William W. Gullett, and finally another $500,000 by the county council.

The increase in the budget will be funded largely by higher assessor valuations and increased income tax revenue from the State. In addition, the State will pay about $10 million more this year in school funds under a new program in which the state will take over the costs of school construction.

We'll meet again. Don't know where. Don't know when.

Somewhere, sometime, you will be served again by these gallant artifacts. Because when one considers the billions of words of love, friendship, and vital dealings that have flowed through these enduring veterans, one cannot just lightly cast them aside.

Not as long as there's money in junk. Not as long as we can save lots of cash every year by salvaging, reconditioning, and recycling old or damaged equipment—thus saving you lots of cash.

For example, no junked phone booth is ever completely worthless. By carefully reconditioning and retesting each undamaged component, we can replace each of these old soldiers for an average one-third the cost of new ones.

And take old or discarded wire, for instance. From it we salvage about forty thousand pounds of lead and copper every week. These semi-precious metals are limited in supply, and vital to your telephone service.

We recycle everything we can. It saves us money, lowers your phone bill, and dumps a lot less trash on this world of ours.

Think about that when you're on the phone tonight. Perhaps some small bit of wire that helps carry your words of greeting, sighs of affection, or orders for pepperoni pizza, may have even served Alexander himself.

At C&P Telephone, we hope that tells you something about the way we are—and the way we've always been.
